One of the premier mountain biking destinations in the region, Tannery Knobs offers an exhilarating outdoor experience for riders of all skill levels. Boasting over 40 acres of diverse terrain, this park is a haven for mountain biking enthusiasts seeking an adrenaline-fueled adventure.

Tanner Knobs Mountain Bike Park is conveniently located in the heart of downtown Johnson City, and provides the perfect escape for both locals and visitors alike. Situated within close proximity to the heart of the city, riders can easily access the park's trails and pump-track, making it an ideal destination for those seeking an outdoor retreat without venturing too far from urban conveniences. Whether you're a seasoned rider looking for a thrilling challenge or a beginner wanting to learn the ropes, this is the ultimate playground for mountain biking enthusiasts, offering a perfect blend of nature and accessibility.

Johnson City Skate Park Tucked into the landscape, this park feels like it was always meant to be here. It's surrounded by trees, trails, and urban hum—but just distant enough to feel like a little world of its own. You're close to downtown, but when you're in the park, you're not thinking about deadlines or traffic—you're thinking about landing that switch backside flip off the ledge you've stared at all week.

The sky opens wide above you, especially at golden hour. Whether you're hitting a trick or just lying on the concrete after a slam, it's a view that centers you.

Rooster Front Park in Bristol is 3.6 acres in size and is a very popular park year round. This park is built on land that is believed to have been the home of Colonel James King's first Iron Works (Circa 1784). This area later became the City's wastewater plant. The section known as Rooster Front Park was filled and leveled by longtime Public Works Superintendent, Charlie Robinette who believed this area should be a public park.

Activities in this park include a

- temporary skate park
 - 71 by 74-foot basketball court
 - 18 by 24-foot shelter with a 15-foot aluminum picnic table and a 15-foot handicapped accessible aluminum picnic table. This shelter also has water, power and lights
 - Trails that feature 360 linear feet of asphalt paved trail and 550 linear feet of gravel trail. These trails are the lead-ins for the hiking trails on this side of Steele Creek Park
